

CASE STUDY

The Company:

Founded in 1996, RONCO Protective Product is a world-class manufacturer of disposable gloves, industrial gloves, and protective apparel. RONCO has strived to meet and exceed customers' needs through its commitment to manufacturing consistent quality products.

The Challenge:

Ronco's outdated ERP system with minimal support hindered the ability of the company to provide fast and accurate service to its customers.

The Solution:

"WebSan answered all our requirements/demands from knowledge and creativity for an efficient ERP solution. Microsoft Dynamics was the solution for us, and to be able to integrate it to other Microsoft products for even faster and more efficient operations was a bonus. We were looking for a system that will be user-friendly, point and click method, drill down option, ability to customize screens and reports. After implementation, we have managed to reduce the level of stress and increase communication with external and internal customers."

“

Frustration could have reached the levels of no return if it would not be to the dedicated and patient staff of WebSan. Onsite and offsite, they ensured a minimal hiccup transition, guiding us, and teaching us how to overcome obstacles.
